

POLICE PENSION PAY DAY.

RETIRED BLUECOATS TO GET THEIR DECEMBER MONEY TO-DAY.

Cap. Haines likely to be seen tomorrow as the new board thinks he has been sufficiently punished. The holders of "soft snaps" to be shaken up.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

Brooklyn sent in $17,151.71 as the total capital of its pensioners. The pensioners of the borough of Richmond, which with only seven pensioners had a fund amounting to $16,191.93. The old city has 1,500 pensioners on its roll, and a saved-up capital of $153,806.88; of this amount $328,000 was invested in bonds of the municipality.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

The Police Commissioners gave notice yesterday that the 1,857 pensioners of the department will receive their December pensions to-day. There had been some delay, due to the necessary formalities of the consolidation.

BOROUGH OF QUEENS.

The Borough Board Meeting Yesterday.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

The Borough Board of Queens met in the City Hall at Long Island City yesterday. President Bowler, Councilman Cassidy, and Alderman Geier were appointed a committee to meet the officers of the Long Island Railroad with a view to preventing its use of soft coal.

THIEF BROKER CAUGHT.

WALL STREET NEWS. MACHINES TOO QUICK FOR THIS FORGER.

He Bought 100 Consolidated Gas with a Bad Check, Recovered $10,000 on the Stock and Was Turned Out of the Office by the Police.

William F. Goerdes, 30 years old, of 335 South Tenth street, Newark, a member of the Consolidated Exchange, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Philip Kelly and Detective Taylor of the Wall Street branch of the Detective Bureau at 3:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, charged with forging the certification of the North Side Bank of Brooklyn to a check for $18,112.50. The arrest was made at the office of Zimmermann & Forshey, bullion brokers, 9 Wall street. The check was drawn to the order of William Hawley & Co., stock brokers, of 26 Broad street, by J. L. Rivers, supposed to be a mythical person, in a sum of 100 shares of the Consolidated Gas Company's stock, the certificate for which was delivered by Hawley to Goerdes, who had induced the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

The arrest was made just in time to prevent Goerdes from getting away with $10,000 in gold and silver. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check. He had been in the office of the Consolidated Gas Company for some time, and had been using the name of J. L. Rivers to induce the check.

NEW PLAYS IN CONTRAST.

DAMA WITH DIGNITY AND VARIETY WITH NOTHING BUT FUN.

Julia Marlowe Enacts a Historical Heroine in "The Countess Valeska," a Napoleonic Drama.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

Julia Marlowe produced at the Knickerbocker Theatre last night a drama newly translated from the German, and in it enacted a historical heroine. This personage was the woman from whom the play derived its title, "The Countess Valeska," and in her actual life, early in the present century, she flourished as an ardent Polish patriot at the same time that Napoleon was endeavoring to subvert her country in its efforts to secure freedom. The action invented by Rudolph Stratz, the author, was that she was in love with a young Prussian officer, one of the enemies of her native land, and that her love was a struggle between her own patriotic motives and her love for the man who was to be her enemy.

IMPORTING SEALSKINS.

Consular Officers Will Advise Owners of Seal Skin Garments to Sell Them.

Special Cable Despatch to the Sun.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The instructions issued by the American Government regarding the importation of sealskins into the United States reached the consulate here to-day. Considering the strictness of the regulations regarding the importation of sealskins, the American Government has decided to refuse to issue certificates to all applicants.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

The consular officers will advise the owners of sealskin garments to sell them here instead of trying to overcome the stringency of the regulations.

Our Removal Sale embraces other goods than Linens, which have been well received by customers.

Note the prices at which we are offering

UPHOLSTERY FABRICS AND LACE CURTAINS.

French Cords at 15c., 19c. & 25c. Reduced from 75c. Morris and Liberty Velvets at $1.25 & 1.35. Reduced from $2. Silk Damasks at $1.15, 1.50 & 1.90. Reduced from $3. Cordonnet Nets at 20c., 25c. & 31c. Reduced from 40 & 50c. Point & Applique Curtains $3.90 to $8.50. Reduced from $6 & $10.

FARMER PITTS MURDER.

SUSPECT MANSHAND ACCUSED ROSEEL OF THE CRIME.

According to Manhand's Confession He Went With Roseel to the House at Summit to Kill Farmer Pitt—His Story of the Murder.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 10.—Prosecuting Attorney Marsh says it is confident that he has cleared up the murder of Farmer James Pitt, who was found dead in his home near Summit on last Sept. 9. The confession of George Manhand, who, with Louis Roseel, was arrested on suspicion two weeks after the murder, will clear up the mystery of the crime, Marsh says. Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.

Manhand's confession, which was given voluntarily, the indictment of both prisoners is expected to follow. Roseel was believed to have murdered Farmer Pitt, and Manhand, who has implicated himself as an accomplice, accuses Roseel of the deed.